MARKET MUSINGS

Opening Day This Friday!

The Lake Zurich Farmers Market kicks off the season this Friday, June 6, from 3-7 p.m. at Paulus Park. Enjoy fresh produce, unique artisan goods, hot food vendors, live music, and free children's activities. Bring the family and support local vendors!

Paulus the Potato Head's Clue

Paulus the Potato is hiding somewhere in the market, once you find him, head to the Children's Booth to collect a prize!

*Paulus is soaking up the sun's bright rays,
Where fresh-picked fruits brighten your day.
Look for the stand with orchards in view,
And you'll find him waiting for you!*

Harvest of Humor: Your Weekly Farmers Market Giggle!
Why did the tomato turn red? Because it saw the salad dressing!

Old Coots

While you won't see them at their usual table, the Old Coots are currently attending an exclusive wisdom retreat—training spiritually with the Dalai Lama, debating Sox vs Cubs with the newly appointed Pope Leo, cultivating courage with Brené Brown, learning about holistic wellness Deepak Chopra, and gathering nuggets of wisdom to pass on to our community from other top-tier advice gurus. They're refueling their wisdom tanks, meditating on life's biggest mysteries, and preparing a full Farmers Market season's worth of advice to dish out—free of charge (quality not guaranteed). Be sure to stop by on June 13th to be one of the first in line!

Old Coots Giving Advice

...It Might Not Be Good Advice... But It's Free!

Sustainability Tip of the Week

Bring your own reusable produce bags! Many vendors appreciate shoppers cutting down on plastic waste.
